C. C. C. BROADENS REQUIREMENTS FOR NEW ENROLLMENTS

An important revision in CCC eligibility requirements has just been received from Washington, D. C., that will make enrollment possible to thousands of youths hitherto denied participation in the program and its training and educational opportunities.

Formerly, a youth could be selected only if his family's income or resources were "insufficient to maintain a normal or average standard of living."

The new regulation now takes into consideration and allows selection of the youth who is "unemployed and in need of employment" even though his family's financial status is better than that formerly regarded as "below average."

The Civilian Conservation Corps has consistently moved in the direction of developing opportunities for useful training and experience for young men. The purpose of the Corps is to offer these opportunities to the whole group of unemployed young men who have energy and ambition and other needed qualities.

A portion of the letter addressed to the State Selecting Agency by Mr W. Frank Persons, Special Assistant to the Director, CCC., reads as follows:

"Hereafter, no applicant will be excluded from selection because his family is not in need of the allotment which CCC enrollees must make to their dependents. Enrollees whose families do not need the assistance provided by the allotment will be permitted to make deposits in lieu of allotments. Well-qualified, unemployed young men are now eligible for enrollment in the Corps notwithstanding their families are not in need of the CCC allotment."

FAIR ATTENDANCE SHOWS BIG GAIN

TREASURE ISLAND IN SAN FRANCISCO BAY — More than a million and a quarter persons visited the 1940 Golden Gate International Exposition during its first month of operation. This amazing attendance record came as a source of surprise and gratification to Exposition officials, who while confident of the success of the big enterprise, had not anticipated so great a response upon the part of the public.

During the first month of the 1939 operations Exposition attendance amounted to 1,129,235, or more than 120,000 less than during the same period this year.

Cavalcade's '76 Spirit

The "Spirit of '76" is one of the gripping scenes in "America! Cavalcade of a Nation," theme spectacle of the 1940 Golden Gate International Exposition. The gigantic Exposition production depicts the story of the growth of America on the world's largest stage.

Why Hitler Has Not Been Stopped

(EDITORIAL)

Civilization generally, including your humble scribe, has wondered just WHY an army as fine as Poland's once was, and now the great French army, have been destroyed in four days respectively, and beaten in eight monthhs, by this nazi war machine.

What does Hitler's army have that no other army seems to have?

The answer to the riddle is very clearly explained in simple terms in an article in the June 15 issue of the Saturday Evening Post on page 27.

Entitled "Your Son Will Not Return! Heil Hitler!" (referring to the "delicate" way the nazi high command notifies a mother her soldier-son is dead), written by John McCutcheon Raleigh, the article explains itself in its sub-title: "The Way a Blietzkrieg Works".

Having gone overseas with the pioneer American Tank Corps in 1918, and still being of a curious and mechnical—as well as military—turn of mind, this article is a God send to me and will prove so to everyone else interested in what and how the United States is now doing under pressure . . AND THE wonder as to how successful we shall be—when and if?

It is difficult to condense a four page article into a few paragraphs: briefly the nazis have developed such a concentrated offensive (that word has two meanings in this sentence!) method of attack—fire power concentrated under UNIT command, that nothing any other army possesses, including our own pitifully outmoded one, can possibly offer effective resistance.

It is just horse sense. Heretofore all armies have divided their various arms: infantry, tanks, anti-tank guns, artillery,

600 Men Wanted To Enlist In Various Branches

SAN FRANCISCO — With the expansion of the Army program now in full swing, Colonel G. T. Perkins, district recruiting officer for Northern California announced today that he had received authority to accept approximately 600 new men for immediate enlistment in the United States Army. These men are to be enlisted for new units which are being formed in the Ninth Corps Area. Splendid opportunities are offered young men desiring to enlist and make the service a career.

The largest number of the men to be enlisted are for assignment to the 53rd Infantry, a newly organized Infantry Regiment which is to be stationed at Camp Ord. Prior to being designated as a permanent station, Camp Ord, which is located on the Monterey Peninsula, was used by the Army as a summer training camp. In addition to the 53rd Infantry, the 76th Field Artillery will also be a part of the permanent garrison of this new station, with the usual detachments of Quartermaster Corps, Engineers and Medical departments.

Colonel Perkins stated that other units which are open for enlistment are organizations of the Quartermaster Corps, Medical Department, Signal Corps, Engineers, and Coast Artillery. Men enlisting in these units are given their choice of serving at posts in the Ninth Corps Area which include Ladd Field, Alaska; Hamilton, March and Moffet Fields and the Sacramento Air Depot. Men enlisting for the Signal Corps are given their choice of serving in either the United States or the Philippine Islands.

Colonel Perkins further stated that these are only a few of the many branches of the Army which are now open for enlistment and that young men desiring further information may call or write the Army Recruiting Stations in San Francisco or Oakland.

machine guns, etc. into the same number of SEPARATE organizations, under SEPARATE command.

Think of the difficulties of co-ordination bewteen five and more separate organizations, sometimes miles apart, each with its own commander, trying to function effectively in battle.

Hitler's tacticians have literally "got the world beat" (nearly half of it, anyway) with their novel and successful method, of uniting PARTS of all these heretofore separate arms of the service, into ONE cohesive, all present-and-watching, unit of battalion strength (not over 800 officers and men). All the equipment is mobile, it all moves ahead together as fast as an objective is taken. And it is all under command of ONE officer who is right there directing in person, like a fire chief at a fire, every step of the action.

To the five arms already named add a chemical unit a fire-throwing unit, a mobile howitzer unit, an automatic heavy hand grenade throwing unit, (something no other army has), a light automatic hand grenade throwing unit: still all in the same battalion strength of some 800 officers and men. Add a radio directional finder (which caused the commanding-by-radio Polish headquarters to move six time in four days) and a squadron of bombers for good measure, plus mobile 75s and 150s (they shoot 3 and 6 inch shells respectively) and you have the picture of the most concentrated wall of projectile fire the mind of man has ever produced in one place.

If a fort is in the way open up the 150s; if tanks, open up the anti-tank squads; if machine gun emplacements, roll up a few tanks and open up the 75s; if just men in trenches or extended order, turn on the light and heavy machine guns, the light and heavy grenade throwers, the rifles of regular infantry and KEEP ROLLING to and through and over the objective. And so on to the next one. How can any army resist or turn back such a power of attack except by meeting it with the same or greater power?

So there it is. Under the Allies' (and our own) outdated form of attack the artillery two or five miles to the rear lays down a barrage and clears the way for the infantry. Maybe the barrage is advancing too fast for the infantry, or not fast enough. The supporting tanks and machine gun organizations may be half a mile away when they are most needed. Chaos and rout result.

Under the nazi method the whole works advances together successfully without lost motion, lost time, lost distance, or conflicting orders—or delayed orders.

Perfect timing results, under unit control, and the necessary type of weapon is ready at hand for instant action when, where and as needed.

No delays, no mistakes, no lost motion, no arm unavailable when and where most needed. The perfect plan of attack, perfectly executed.

So that makes our war college and our West Point, and our officers poring over tactics and strategy: what Napolean did, what Bismark did, etc. as helpless to stop Hitler as were the crack Polish and French armies, commanded by officers who were also students of KNOWN tactics—helpless in the face of these new, unknown, and too-late-to-prepare-for, tactics.

One prayerfully hopes that all the tanks and guns and airplanes our country is engaging to build (at we, the taxpayers expense) will be grouped and organized along the new Hitler method so—when and if—we have to fight for our country we can meet him on his own terms, with organization, weapons and command as good or better than his, and finally beat him to a jelly.

It is to be devoutly hoped that every American army officer, every politician or industrialist in a key position under the new rush rearmament setup, will read and digest this timely article . . . and regroup, re-equip and re-train our new army accordingly. — W.W.

THE AXIS PREAMBLE CHALLENGES CHRISTENDOM

The preamble of the axis armistice terms is the product of a mind or minds which have no memory of history, no knowledge of truth, no faintest spark of light or responsibility.

According to the preamble's authors, civilized time began on November 11, 1918, and there never was an August 1, 1914, nor a blood-lusty kaiser with goose-stepping legions.

Paragraph three is a treacherous lie. It reads:

"Therewith was ended a war which the German people and its government had not wanted, and in which the enemy, despite tremendous superiority, did not successfully in any way conquer the German Army, Navy or Air Force."

Let's break this down, thought by thought, and refresh a little history:

The kaiser on August 1, 1914, with armies poised and waiting, on no further pretext than the murder in Serbia of a minor member of royalty, declared war on England and France and in four hours invaded and trampled on all but undefended Belgium. England and France were so astonished they did not know there was a war contemplated until the kaiser actually started it . . and to this day no one knows WHY the kaiser started the last war for any other reason than to fulfill his boast of "Thanksgiving in Paris, Christmas in London and New Year's in New York."

Admittedly, the then-German PEOPLE did not want that war, any more than what's left of the real German people (as distinguished from the Hitler-fanatic nazis) want this war.

So the Allies, (which then included the United States) did not conquer the German army? In October 1918, with Verdun and the Western Front still holding, and two million fresh American troops in France, and two million more training at home, the German army was so beaten, spent and starved that they ASKED for the armistice, and got it.

The German fleet was so badly licked at Jutland they tied up at Kiel and Hamburg and never put out to sea again.

Paragraph five ends: ". . a (German) people (which) had only one weakness—belief in the promises of democratic statesmen."

. . Wherein this latter-day Judas tries to pass off the former Prussian (now nazi) responsibility for the last war onto no less than the democratic statesmen, including none other than our own former President Wilson, who is mentioned by name!

How does one deal with such a perverter-of-truth, such a devil at the head of a befogged, vainglorious, blood-lusting, egotistical cult (not "kultur") disguised as a nation?

Only by out-arming, out-smarting, out-geniusing and out-guessing him, and then beating him and his.

The same America which invented the airplane, the steamboat, the telegraph, the locomotive, the machine gun, will muster its Christ-directed intelligence and ingenuity to out-Hitler Hitler—who sets himself up to be god; Hitler, whose very name is a stench in the soul of humanity and a festering sore on the body of civilization.

"Hitler will go down in history!" shout his nutzi admirers bravely.

"The sooner the sweeter" say we—whose normal ways of life were disturbed 23 years ago, to stop Hitler's predecessor, Kyzer Bill—and did HE get stopped? (He did!)

Subscription Bills

For the first time in (apparently) three years or more, Township Register subscription bills are in the mail.

The returns, for the most part, have been gratifying and pleasant.

By reason of a prize campaign, conducted some years ago, of which your editor has no knowledge, some few Register readers have returned subscription bills with indignant notations. Such names are of course removed at once from our mailing list, to be replaced by friendly people who appreciate the job of work we are doing here, and are willing to pay the munificent price of about one postage stamp a week in order to regularly receive and enjoy what we are told is a good weekly newspaper.

Under my ownership subscription bills will be mailed regularly the first of each month to each subscriber whose subscription expires, and payment is requested in 30 days.

There will be no free copies of The Township Register except to persons in charitable institutions, and there will be no dead-heads who relish receiving something for nothing.

To those few who insist they "only ordered the paper for one year" (three years ago and have been reading it weekly ever since!) or who state they heretofore ordered the paper stopped, (which I grant my be true) I request to be notified by mail, call or phone: which is equitable both to those parties and myself.

I am conducting this business AS a business, not as an indigent "hatful-of-type"; so I cannot tolerate being expected to GIVE AWAY the product of my investment, my time, my work and such ability as I may possess.

New friends are springing up constantly, new subscribers come in voluntarily, appreciation is being expressed audibly, and I am very happy in my new situation . . and doing just fine with the support, said-with-a-check, of the fine, substantial citizens of our Township.

Thanks from — WALTER WAYNFLETE.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT!

Events loudly proclaim it—this is a world of change. But no one expected the processes of change would reach such an unbelievable height as that just announced by the Post Office Department. During the first five months of 1940 it has amassed $14 million in net profit! Year in, year out, the proverbial Post Office deficit has been a steadfast mark. Across the sands of time, no matter now they shifted or eddied, its perennial deficit has ever been written large. And now all signs declare that even this stalwart monument to permanency is crumbling. It's a hectic world!

BROKEN FORM DELAYS LAST WEEK'S ISSUE AT LAST MOMENT

Just as the fourth and last form of last week's issue of The Township Register was being put on the press last Thursday afternoon one of the side bars of the new six column chases broke at one corner, depositing four columns of type from the editorial page on the floor.

This is known as a "page form pi". To repair the damage all hands got down on their knees, picked up each line of linotype slugs, each letter from ads and hand set heads, each piece of column rule and spacing material . . then took a proof of the "slugs" and reassembled them, line by line.

The process only took two hours, but caused last week's issue to miss the outgoing mail at 4:40 Thursday afternoon.

Harry Winters at the new Winters Welding Works in Niles has gone over all the new chases with his acetylene torch and we anticipate no recurrence of this trying mishap.

We thank Register subscribers for their patient indulgence when circumstances beyond our control, such as a strike one week and a "piied form" the next, cause us to miss the mail. — Ye ed.

Christian Science Churches

In all Christian Sciense churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., a Lesson-Sermon was read Sunday, June 23, on the subject "Is the Universe, including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?"

The Golden Text was: "Lo, he that formeth the mountains, and createth the wind, and declareth unto man what is his thought, that maketh the morning darkness, and treadeth upon the high places of the earth, The Lord, The God of hosts, is his name" (Amos 4: 13). Bible selections included the following passages from Isaiah 42: 5, 8: "Thus saith God the Lord, he that created the heavens, and stretched them out; he that spread forth the earth, and that which cometh out of it; he that giveth breath unto the people upon it, and spirit to them that walk therein: . . I am the Lord: that is my name: and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise to graven images."

Passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, were also included, which read as follows: "Material evolution implies that the great First Cause must become material, and afterwards must either return to Mind or go down into dust and nothingness . . The true theory of the universe, including man, is not in material history but in spiritual development. Inspired thought relinquishes a material, sensual, and mortal theory of the universe, and adopts the spiritual and immortal" (p. 547).

MASONIC HOME NEWS

By J. H. HEATH

(Held over from last issue)

The 300 members of the home able to report at the dining room were apprised, recently, of the return of happy birthdays to two of the family by the display of gorgeous bouquets in the center of their respective tables, at which five persons are seated. They were Mrs C. L. Kimball, 75, of San Francisco, and "Grandma" Margaret W. Williams, 91, of Fruitvale. During the day a delegation of Centerville friends visited Mrs Kimball, while a party of 16 Fruitvale friends called on Grandma Williams, featuring a basket picnic lunch.

Active in her membership in the Eastern Star Grandma Williams is the Mother Worthy Matron of Fruitvale chapter, which she organized 37 years ago, under the name of "Marietta".

Mrs R. V. Davis, ("Elsie" to the dining room members of the Decoto home, where she is one of eight popular waitresses) a recent bride, has returned with interesting reports of a belated honeymoon automobile trip of 600 miles. Leaving their home in Hayward, 15, they headed north through Oregon, Washington, Idaho and North Dakota, stopping off at Bismarck for a visit with her parents, Mr and Mrs John Seidler. Continuing they motored through Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois and Missouri, where they made a bow to his parents at Hannibal. Leaving there the return was made via Kentucky, Colorado and Salt Lake City, Utah, arriving home in Hayward, June 12.

Mrs Minnie Richardson, matron of the home, has returned from a pleasant visit in the Southland.

Accompanied by one of her sons Mrs Paris Fergusson of Healdsburg, left the home Sunday morning at daylight for a motor trip which will include Yosemite.

Mrs G. Rose Torr of Oakland has returned with her son Randall and family from a weekend visit in Los Angeles where years ago she became the Mother Worthy Matron of Florence Chapter of the O. E. S.

Many members of the home who have had occasion to meet him in the office of Grand Secretary John Whicher were sorry to learn of the sudden passing Saturday night of Assistant Grand Secretary Frank G. Hobbs, a member of Alexandia lodge No. 531, San Francisco. The funeral was held in the Masonic Temple in San Francisco on Monday.

A (Blick) Blickenstaff, popular head janitor at the home, accompanied by his wife, is spending his annual vacation in the northern part of the state.

Jim Heath, Mainite attended the 67th annual picnic and reunion of the California Maine Society in Live Oak Park, Berkeley last Saturday, conveying the regrets of the other five Mainites in the home: Mesdames Annie Barton and Sophia and Mrs James Yarrington, and Messre Joe Corson and Carl Viles.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE GROUP HAS FINE BUILDING AT FAIR

About one million persons last year visited the Christian Science Building at the Golden Gate International Exposition on Treasure Island, which began its second season with the reopening of the Fair on May 25.

The building, which this year has been redecorated in brighter colors, in keeping with the general color scheme of the Exposition, now represents an investment of approximately $65,000.

An added feature of its decoration this year is a waterfall, surrounded with ferns, flowers, and redwood trunks, at the base of the high pylon which serves as a landmark for Exposition visitors.

The building contains attractively designed exhibits of the various activities of the Christian Science movement. There is a testefully decorated reading room, and a charming small garden where Exposition visitors may stop and rest.

Contributing to the maintenance of the building are the Christian Science churches of California, the eleven western states, and the territories of Alaska and Hawaii.

CONVERTIBLE COUPE POPULARITY GROWS

Coming in color combinations that harmonize so well with California landscapes, the new De Soto convertible coupe is gaining more and more favor with the motoring public, declares Clarence Crane, Niles De Soto-Plymouth dealer.

"The De Soto convertible eye-appeal lies in the fact that the bodies may be in one color, the seats, of genuine leather or weather resistant Bedford Cord, may be red, blue or tan, and the tops in optional black or gray," Mr Crane stated, "giving the motorist a wide range of combinations from which to choose. For instance, the body may be tan, the seats red and the top black. With white sidewall tires, which now come as standard equipment on these custom models, they present a smart appearance so much admired by discriminating car owners."

True Contentment

MOST PEOPLE would agree that contentment is a valuable asset, and would willingly give much to be assured of its lasting possession. Considered, however, from the material standpoint, this state of consciousness seems to be of a fleeting nature. One may temporarily experience a false sense of contentment or satisfaction over some material possession, or because of some human condition or situation, but such a source of contentment is never lasting, for material possessions may suddenly be lost, or circumstances be altered, and erstwhile contentment give place to bitterness, dissatisfaction, and resentment. Or one may feel that the gaining of certain desires or the realization of some particular ambition will bring contentment, only to find that such attainments, when secured, have failed to bring the expected satisfaction.

What is true contentment? May it not be defined as satisfaction, or restfulness of spirit, as serenity and peace of mind? Paul declares (Philippians 4: 11), "I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content." Whence came to Paul the wonderful sense of peace and contentment that could not be disturbed or changed by any untoward condition or circumstance? It came from his knowledge and understanding of God, his recognition of the value and permanence of spiritual things and the nothingness of all that the material senses hold desirable and valuable. . . . Man reflects the abundance and affluence of infinite Love, the omnipotence of Truth, the eternality of Life. Man, as the idea of God, possesses by reflection all the good that God has, even as the beloved Master, Christ Jesus, implied in his parable of the prodigal, where the father said to the elder brother (Luke 15: 31), "Son, thou art ever with me, and all that I have is thine." True contentment, then, comes to us in the degree of our spiritual understanding of the fact of man's eternal unity with God, the source of all good. It is an attribute of divine Mind, and therefore it is a natural quality, which man forever expresses, along with all the other attributes of God, spontaneously and without effort.

When we gain the assurance that man is ever one with God, that he is spiritual, perfect, and complete, lacking nothing that is necessary to the full and perfect expression of God, good, of Life and Love, we shall have attained to spiritual contentment, and it will be unchangeable and enduring. Nothing can mar it or take it from us, for this exalted spiritual consciousness must of necessity destroy those disturbing and unhappy conditions of thought which find expression in dissatisfaction, covetousness, jealousy, envy, selfishness, and greed, and such unlovely traits as pride and self-satisfaction. It silences the craving of the human mind for constant acquisition of material things, and dissolves the restlessness and continual urge for mere wordly pursuits and the indulging of sensuous pleasures, which never have brought, and never can bring, happiness or contentment. It replaces the false satisfaction of worldliness and worldly knowledge with spiritual ideals and joys, and enables us to understand and appreciate the words of Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, where she writes in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 452), "Better is the frugal intellectual repast with contentment and virtue, than the luxury of learning with egotism and vice."

Again, true spiritual contentment does not mean surrender to idleness, laxity, or self-satisfaction in what has already been accomplished, a specious contentment with half-way achievement, with things attempted but not fully completed. On the contrary, discontent with oneself, a discontent that spurs one to greater effort in a worthy undertaking or cause, is helpful and beneficial. Spiritual understanding awakens thought to the appreciation of true values, and a desire to attain greater spiritual growth and achievement.

He who possesses true contentment possesses great spiritual riches, a treasure of priceless worth, and all may attain to it who are willing to seek for it and pay the price. And the price is self-surrender to God, divine Love, a willingness to put aside our belief in a material selfhood and our material sense of things, and joyously, gratefully, humbly, as little children, put our trust and faith in the omnipotence and omnipresence of the infinitely tender, compassionate Father-Mother, Love, who giveth liberally and spontaneously all good to all His beloved children. Thus may we prove the truth of Mrs. Eddy's declaration (ibid., p. 494), "Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need." What need we more than this joyous assurance to bring us lasting contentment?

Printers gave the world the gift of knowledge. They found the learning of the centuries mouldering in archives. They brought it out. A world which could not read because it had no books came up from the depths of illiteracy. The printers had put learning at its fingertips.

We're proud of the accomplishments of the printing industry. As we go thru our daily work, it is our intention to uphold high ideals—turn out good work—charge fair prices and thus do our part in speeding the wheels of business.

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR
Executive Secretary
Agricultural Council of California

EDITOR'S NOTE:—Crisis faces California; crisis faces the nation. With the rest of the world rocking on its foundations, what can our country do to keep on an even keel and avert disaster? More particularly, what can the farmer do? What must he do, if he expects to stay in business; if he wants to be running his own farm—instead of working in a regimented society—ten years hence? These vital questions are discussed by Ralph H. Taylor, farm leader and veteran student of government, in a series of four challenging articles for this newspaper, of which this is the first.

In New York harbor, the Statue of Liberty still holds aloft its torch of freedom—lighting the port of entry to a nation where a man's religion, his political opinions and his choice of an occupation are his own private business, and not to be tampered with.

There is nothing news-worthy in that statement, you may remark; the Statue of Liberty has been there ever since we can remember. This is the United States of America!

But the subject can't be dismissed that easily. Finland was a democracy—a splendid, progressive democracy—just a few months ago. Denmark had been a peaceful, inoffensive nation, troubling no one and untroubled by others, for many generations. In Holland, when disaster came, the fields were laden with the beauty of tulip-time, just as they had been in years before. And Belgium, ravished in the World War of 20 years ago, had done nothing to invite a new attack on her liberties, but Belgium, today, is the puppet State of Nazi Germany; her farmers working to feed those who despoiled them.

True, Hitler's legions—and, in the case of Finland, Stalin's Communist comrades—blew out the torch of liberty in those countries. And there is at least no immediate likelihood, so far as we know, that either Hitler or Stalin is planning a frontal attack on America. Equally true, the United States is at last aroused and is preparing her national defense, so that if and when the totalitarian powers launch a blitzkrieg against us, we shall be able to match planes with planes, and tanks with tanks. But the war-stricken countries of Europe had been "softened up", long before they were invaded, by treachery and poisonous propaganda; by an easy tolerance of "isms" and vicious termites, which weakened their foundations—and made them an easy prey to the invader.

The United States has been "softened up", too; California has been "softened up"; our whole economic and social system has been under constant attack for more than a decade. And it is time that we stopped deluding ourselves, admitted the worst, and made preparations to see that it doesn't happen again—for this country, not yet through its crisis of depression, is now entering on a new crisis; a period of national emergency, in which billions will be spent for defense, and in which other billions may by wasted by power-drunk, bureaucratic officials, unless the American people refuse to be hoodwinked.

Every farmer, who has been amazed at the gradual encroachment of bureaucratic government on his business—who has been irked by the constantly mounting restrictions of government bureaus and departments—needs to pause now, and take account of stock. Strong nations, like the United States, are not overthrown in a day, nor a month, nor a year; they are slowly gutted and emasculated A bit of liberty is clipped off here—for a promise of greater security there; a new tax is levied on top of other taxes, usually in the name of an emergency; then another tax, and another—and finally, perhaps, the farmer finds himself regimented, not by some foreign dictator, but by his constant caller, the tax collector.

There is no disposition on the part of this writer to decry or oppose the war taxes, or preparedness taxes, which are well on their way to enactment. This country must take out insurance against Europe's firebrands—adequate insurance. That, undoubtedly, means sacrifice. And California and the nation are prepared for sacrifice.

But the economic depression, which started in 1929, and which still endures, has been used as an excuse for the most unbridled, unwarranted era of governmental extravagance in America's history. Because farmers and business FARMERS COR ..... CONT .... men, home owners and workers, were stirred by the plight of their less fortunate countrymen, and were willing to give until it hurt, conscienceless politicians played politics with human misery and spent money like drunken sailors—at a ration of ten cents for the needy, and 90 cents for the greedy. And the present threat of war—the present admitted need for national preparedness—may again be used as an excuse for a new period of squandermania and governmental usurpation of the rights and privileges of the individual, unless the people who still believe in liberty think enough of it to crack down on every bureaucrat who seeks to abridge it. That is the reason for this series of articles, and in succeeding columns we hope to point out the dangers on the horizon.

MIRROR LIMITATIONS

Regardless of what the motorist may think, it is not safe to change traffic lanes without a more thorough check of approaching traffic than is possible through the rear view mirror, according to the National Automobile Club. There is a very large blind spot off to the left rear of the car which can be eliminated only by an actual look behind.

SQUEALING TIRES

Motorists with cars equipped with independent front wheel springing systems occasionally make the error in judgement of assuming that tires will inevitably squeal when turning corners, due to sideslip as a result of design, according to the National Automobile Club. A squealing tire is a definite sign of under-inflation.

"Snowman, Bears" Act Makes Hit At Ice Follies

"Accidental hit" of the glittering Ice Follies of 1940, now appearing nightly before capacity audiences at Winterland, in San Francisco, is the snowman-and-bears act in the opening unit of the show.

This vastly amusing number, which delights every audience, was put into the program as an atmospheric effect. It became a hit from the first night of its showing and is now considered a feature act.

Harris Legg, one of the world's best known trick skaters and speed skaters, is the Snowman whose giant stature astonishes his watchers. Legg, for this act, uses steel stilts which elevate him eighteen inches above the ice surface. The stilts are jointed, through special device invented by Legg, and are covered by his costume. He has yet to fall in the Snowman suit, he said, and therefore doesn't know how he'd get up again.

The Ice Follies is now in its second month at Winterland and indications are that it will continue for an extended period. Last year the dazzling musical revue on ice played to 400,000 people during four months in San Francisco. Since last year, 1,500,000 people have seen the show.

Colorful production and comedy are highlights of the 1940 edition of the Ice Follies. Beautiful costumes, special lighting and a highly skilled technique have been combined into what critics through out the Nation call the "World's greatest musical revue on ice'.'

Increasing attendance this week caused the management to again recommend that ticket reservations be made in advance, by writing to Winterland, Post and Steiner Streets, San Francisco; or by telephoning WAlnut 0112 or calling Sherman Clay box offices in San Francisco or Oakland.

GLADYS SWARTHOUT TO SING JULY 2 AT EXPOSITION

TREASURE ISLAND — "American singers," according to mezzo-soprano Gladys Swarthout, star of opera, screen and radio," have the best opportunity in the world for self-develpment."

Miss Swarthout, guest star of the Treasure Island-San Francisco Symphony Orchestra concert to be held at the Exposition Coliseum July 2 at 8:30 p.m. is a firm believer in American musical methods and teachers.

The Metropolitan Association star points to the style and finish for which American singers are noted, made possible, she says, "by a truly American system of selection and rejection, of plain, practical trial and error."

With Pierre Monteux conducting the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, Gladys Swarthout has selected four numbers for her part in the July 2 Treasure Island concent. Included among her selection are "Che Faro Senza Euridice" by Gluck, Dido's Lament from "The Trojans" by Berlioz, Thomas' famed aria, "Connais-tu le pays", and the Card Scene from Bizet's "Carmen."
